HAWAII GETS NO SHARE IN GREAT FUND FOR ROADS

Chamber of Commerce Committee Considered it Unwise To Seek Federal Aid Here

Hawaii will not share in the $150,000,000 appropriated by Congress for good roads.

Every state in the union is to get a share of the big fund, ranging from nearly $4,000,000 for New York to $124,000 for Delaware, but Hawaii did not make a fight for inclusion.

Raymond Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that in view of the million-dollar military belt-road which Hawaii hopes to get, a committee of the chamber which discussed the federal good roads fund decided that it would be unwise for Hawaii to try to get the territory included.

Under the new law, which became operative July 11, cooperative between the federal government and the states in highway improvement has begun on a country-wide program. In the next five years $150,000,000 will be expended, on a half-and-half plan, upon artery roads selected by highway authorities of the 48 states, subject to the approval of the secretary of agriculture.

The cooperative plan became effective when President Wilson attached his signature to the concrete proposition resulting from the merging of the two different measures passed by senate and house. In greater degree the senate bill found approval, for it required maintenance of the roads after construction, imposing a discontinuance of funds for neglect in this matter.

With the federal aid convention, conducted by the American Automobile Association in Washington, January 16-17, 1912, started the effort which resulted. In the law just enacted, Congress answered this gathering by the creation of a joint committee of the senate and house, authorized to investigate the desirability and feasibility of federal aid to the states. Its report was favorable.

Herewith is the total federal distribution for the five years:

MOLOKAI MAN FILES NOMINATION AS THIRD DISTRICT CANDIDATE

With the filing by Levi Mahali of Molokai of his nomination as a candidate for the house of representatives, the third representative district has carried on first honors in the present campaign as concerns filing of nominations. Mahali lives at Puukoo, Kaunakakai, Molokai.

Mahali filed his nomination in the office of the secretary of Hawaii Wednesday, and deposited with Eben S. Cushingham, chief clerk of that office, the required $10 fee. The time for closing primary nominations does not expire until midnight September 7.

Among those whom it is believed will toss their hats into the ring from Kaunakakai are Representative James K. Lota, who announced recently that he would run again; David Kanehale of Wainiha, Hawaii, has been announcing in the Garden Island that he is a candidate on the Republican ticket. Joseph Levi, member of the house from Maui a few years ago, is also said to intend to run.

John Albert Matthews, former circuit judge of West Hawaii, will not run this fall for the senate as a Big Island candidate. He will practice law here.

BIG HEALTH CAMPAIGN COMING

SENATOR RANSBØLL

An organized campaign among 500,000 women of the United States for better supervision of the nation's health will be set on foot this fall. Its purpose is to put into effect better provisions for safeguarding the health of the individuals the country over.

The woman back of it is Miss Susanna Crofoot, well known health expert of Chicago, who will appeal first to her hundreds of thousands of women followers, and then through them to the nation at large.

The big idea of the movement is to establish local free government laboratories in which physicians and others concerned with the people's health can have medical tests made by competent specialists. Health bulletins, written in language the people can understand, are also to be distributed. The movement is not directed against physicians. On the contrary, it is expected to aid them in giving them expert assistance.

In outlining the proposed campaign, Miss Crofoot said: "We need government laboratories in which adequate medical tests can be made by men who should devote their lives to the study of this problem. We need headquarters to which every physician, every individual who has to do with the health of others, can go for definite authoritative information. A man with a sick hog can now get expert information from the government, but a man with a sick child is absolutely without help from the nation."

Miss Crofoot has recently been in conference with Senator Ransbøll, chairman of the United States Senate Committee on Public Health, and with Dr. Rupert Blue, Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service, which is already doing effective work for the suppression of disease.

What Japan maintains is that her people shall not be excluded when the subjects of other nations are admitted. As a matter of law, of course, this position is untenable. This country has the undoubted right to invite immigration from one country and forbid it from another. This I have no doubt, Japan will concede, and, in fact, we have done this very thing. The trouble is not that we limit Japanese immigration but that we exclude certain Japanese. This is the problem that must ultimately be met and solved if the United States and Japan are to continue at peace with each other. The vital question is: Are we excluding Japanese subjects from this country because we regard the Japanese as an inferior and objectionable race? And secondary to it and resulting from it is the further question: If so, are we justified in taking that position as between us and that country and acting upon it?

"The people of the Pacific coast states who speak and act from knowledge do not object to the Japanese because they are inferior as a race but because they are different. Their color, their manner of living, their habits and customs, their regard for disregard of personal obligations, social and contractual, are different. These differences are such that in the nature of things there can be no amalgamation of the two races or assimilation by our people of a race different in the vital things of life and to national progress and advancement."

President Wilson signed a resolution passed by Congress authorizing him to invite Spain and Latin-American countries to participate in an exposition in 1918 celebrating the 200th anniversary of the founding of San Antonio, Tex.

MAUI LAD MEETS DEATH IN SUGAR MILL MACHINERY

Is Caught in Trash Carrier and Pulled Under Heavy Drum

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WAILUKU, Maui, July 26.—Caught in the chain of the trash carrier of the Kipahulu Sugar Company's mill last Friday, Joseph, the little 6-year-old son of A. K. Kaalakea, was crushed to death when carried under the drum of the contrivance. The child's skull was crushed and he lived but a short time after the accident. An inquest was held on last Saturday, Sheriff Crowell making the trip to Kipahulu in a campaign for the purpose. The result of the inquiry was the verdict that the child had been accidentally killed. The child had been playing about the machinery, at the time of the unfortunate accident.

For rent not paid, amounting to $245, suit was filed on Wednesday of this week by Guy S. Goodness and Mrs. Rebecca Nicholas against the Valley Isle Theater Company, Ltd., Wailuku. The case will be heard on Saturday, July 31.

Mrs. Kaleonehu Makahio of Kahului was on Monday granted a divorce from her husband, John Makahio, on the ground of nonsupport. She was also awarded $30 per month alimony. The case was not contested. The efforts of Mrs. Makahio to secure a divorce about a year ago and the legal battle which was carried to the supreme court, resulting eventually in both the original bill and cross bills being thrown out of court by Judge Edging, was the matter of considerable general interest at the time.

Ginichi Takehara was granted a divorce from Shino Takehara by Judge Edging on Monday on a charge of desertion.

HILO MINISTER SAYS HAWAII IS ALL FOR HUGHES

Rev. George Laughton Gives Out Interview on Politics To Mainland Paper

Under date of July 16 the San Francisco Chronicle publishes from Alameda an interview with Rev. George Laughton of Hilo relative to Hawaii political sentiment and the candidacy of Judge Charles E. Hughes for the presidency. It says:

"A sense of security has come to the people of Hawaii as a result of the nomination of Charles E. Hughes as Republican candidate for president," said Rev. George Laughton of Hilo, Hawaii, who preached this morning at the First Congregational church in this city. The pastor continued:

"All interests in the islands feel that Hughes will be better for Hawaii and the country. They feel the same humiliation there as has the rest of the country as the result of the actions of the present administration. 'Vast improvements will be made in the islands if Hughes is elected President of the United States. Capital has been locked up because of the fear of this administration. But it is felt that Hughes' election will bring a new impulse, and all are looking for a great era of prosperity.'

"Hughes looms up bigger than any man in the United States today. I campaigned with him in New York against the race track and I know him well. He is a statesman, has great executive ability and has demonstrated that he has the larger vision. He is an American through and through."

Rev. Mr. Laughton, his wife and daughter are visiting the state for several weeks and are staying at 718 Twelfth avenue, San Francisco.

MISSOURI GUARDSMEN RIOT BECAUSE ONE REFUSES TO REENLIST

NEVADA, Mo.—What promised for a time to be a riot started at the National Guard camp here when members of Company B, Third regiment, on learning that one of their number, whose term of enlistment had expired, had refused to reenlist because he declared his wife was seriously ill, stripped him to the waist and, painting a yellow streak down his back with tordine, paraded him down the camp street.

When the procession reached the camp of Battery A, the man told his tale and the battery, siding with him, chased his tormentors off. The Company B boys went back to their camp for reinforcements and reappeared on the scene with clubs and ball bats. The men were driven back to their quarters by officers.

The death by suicide of Charles W. Sewall, a business partner of former Mayor Thomas F. Kearns of Waltham, Mass., who was drowned under unexplained circumstances some months ago, recently became known.

SENTIMENT DIVIDED OVER TRANSFERENCE OF DANISH WEST INDIES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, July 27.—There has been no surprise manifested here at the report of the negotiations between the United States and Denmark for the transfer of the Danish West Indies to America.

The condition of the islands has been unsatisfactory for some time, owing largely to the unwillingness of Danish capitalists to invest in permanent improvements.

This city has been threatened with bankruptcy and the harbor trade is almost dead. St. Croix faces a social revolution and in St. John the situation is quite as bad.

Sentiment here and elsewhere throughout the islands is decidedly mixed. It is feared that the United States, should it take possession, would close the harbor of St. Thomas and locate the naval base at St. Croix.

"PINKHAM'S POND" SUGGESTED AS THE NAME FOR DRY SPOT

"Pinkham's Pond" is the new name for a body of water that will be created in the near future if the plans of the Trail and Mountain Club go through. During the discussion regarding the Round Top Park at the Ad Club luncheon Wednesday, Alexander Hume proposed that the trails be improved to the park.

Adding to his statement he said that there was a place near the proposed park site where the water could run in to make a pond, with a little improvement. He stated that this pond would be a benefit in increasing the beauties of the surroundings. He suggested that the body of water be called Pinkham's Pond in honor of the governor.

MAUI BUILDING BOOMS DESPITE MATERIAL PRICE

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAILUKU, Maui, July 26.—Work was begun this week on the new Grand hotel to be built at the corner of Main and Church streets, Wailuku. The old Lyons building is being removed and work has begun on the foundations by J. Picanco, who has the contract for the masonry work.

The contract for the superstructure has been let to a Japanese firm on Market street. The new building is to cost, complete, except for furniture, between $28,000 and $33,000, and is to be finished by the middle of November.

Much Building in Progress. A building boom is on in Maui at the present time, despite the soaring prices of materials. Besides the Grand hotel, work is already well under way for the new main building of the Wailuku hotel, which is to cost about $10,000. On Market street, Wailuku, three new buildings are going up at present. Two are on the makai side of the street on property owned by the Ahuliki estate, and will be occupied by the stores of Y. Uchida and K. Kawahara, respectively. On the opposite side of the street a two-story structure has been started which will be used as a Japanese hotel. These buildings replace old shacks which had outlived their usefulness.

An unusual amount of work is also in progress on all of the plantations of Maui in way of building, and the county has a number of school structures under way.

Maui Dry Goods To Enlarge. A sub-lease has been made by the Grand Hotel Company of the fine lot on the mauka corner of Church and Main streets, directly opposite the hotel location, and also just across Main street from the First National bank, to the Maui Dry Goods & Grocery Company. (Associated Press by Federal Wireless) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 27.—Warren K. Billings, an ex-convict, and Mrs. Belle Lavin, one of the witnesses in the McNamara dynamiting case, have been arrested by the police, who suspect them of having been instrumental in the explosion last Saturday, which killed seven persons, and wounded two scores of others as the preparedness parade was passing.

The police are still searching for Thomas Mooney, a labor leader and agitator, who has been missing from his usual haunts since the day of the parade. He has long been suspected as a dynamiter.

Billings served a term in Folsom, having been arrested and convicted for carrying dynamite through the streets of Sacramento in 1913. He has been out of prison but a short time.

IN WAR ARENA

BRITAIN CLAIMS BOYCOTT IS DOMESTIC ACT

LONDON, Eng., July 27.—The government of Great Britain, after a conference with its allies, is disposed to adopt the attitude that the issuance of a blacklist under the authority of the "trading with the enemy" act and in accordance with the Entente agreement of last month is purely a domestic act. Some of the diplomats here, however, have declared that it is not domestic in its action but affects the comity of nations to such an extent that neutral powers cannot possibly afford to ignore it.

Reports that the British government had gone to the length of consulting leading American bankers in New York before issuing the American blacklist, have been heard here, but the foreign office last night declined absolutely to make any comment on this development.

In official circles it is not believed that the controversy over the issuance of the blacklist, including the names of firms doing business in the United States, will result in a formal protest from Washington before the return of Ambassador Page, who is going home in a few days for his vacation.

ENTENTE POWERS CONSENT TO RELIEF WORK

LONDON, Eng., July 27.—Great Britain will give its consent to the admission of food to areas occupied by the armies of the Central Powers, under certain conditions, according to statements made here officially last night.

It is understood that the government will demand that the supplies be handled by a neutral commission, to be appointed by President Wilson, but the details of the agreement have not yet been given to the public. The full details of the offer will be sent to Washington through Ambassador Page later.
